

L. G. MALTBY BECOMES CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

Well Known Washington Man Announces Himself as a Candidate for Membership in Mason County Fiscal Court.

Mr. Lucien G. Maltby, prominent land owner of the Washington neighborhood Saturday announced himself as a candidate for County Commissioner, subject to the action of the Republican voters in the August primary election.

Mr. Maltby is one of the best known men in the county. He is a successful business man and farmer and is one of the best men yet to offer himself for this important office. The office of Commissioner is, in many respects, one of the most important in the entire county and men should be selected to membership in the fiscal court for their real worth. Mr. Maltby is a man who measures up in every respect to the necessary qualifications for a high class official.

Always interested in the affairs of the county, Mr. Maltby, in seeking the nomination and election to this position promises the same careful attention to the business affairs of the county that he has paid to his own affairs. The Public Ledger predicts that he will receive the hearty support of the thinking people of every section of the county in this race.

Phillips, 56 years old, Chief Deputy United States Marshal for the Eastern District of Kentucky, died Friday afternoon at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Covington, after having been ill ten days. Cox as Marshal to succeed Robert Ford, of Middleboro, Ky., Mr. Phillips lived at the Covington Industrial Club, where he was stricken with acute indigestion, which was followed by complications.

POLICE JUDGE MADE APPOINTEE AT PARIS

Salary Reduced from $600 to $200 Per Year—One Vote Against Change.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Council, of Paris, Ky., an ordinance was introduced by Councilman Catesby Spears making the office of police judge appointive. Several months ago the council, after a half dozen citizens had announced their candidacy for the office of chief of police, adopted an ordinance making that office appointive. Following the reading of the new ordinance by Mr. Spears, Councilman James Moreland held he thought the council was going a little far in "taking the right to select their officials from the people." Hugh Brent said the reason for the action that the present incumbent of the office had been drawing a salary of $600 per year and had turned in not over 200 per year in fines. Mr. Moreland stated that this condition was solely the fault of the council, which had tolerated such a condition from month to month without protest until just a few weeks before the primary election.

When the proposed ordinance was put to a vote Mr. Moreland alone voted against it. The new ordinance provides for the appointment of the judge of the police court of Paris by the council and fixes his or her salary at the sum of $16 per month or $200 per annum.

BASEBALL SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

ADMIRAL SIMS IS REPRIMANDED BY SECRETARY DENBY

Admiral Is Given a Public "Bawling Out" By Denby for Famous "Jackass Speech."

Washington, June 25. — E. L. Denby, Secretary of the Navy, Friday administered a public reprimand to Rear Admiral William S. Sims for statements in the Admiral's recent speech in London reflecting on the activities of Sinn Féin sympathizers in America. The reprimand was made on request of the houses of Congress, Legislatures and other public bodies, which have adopted resolutions of sympathy with the Irish republican cause.

The rebuke was conveyed to Admiral Sims at his hotel in a letter from Mr. Denby disapproving two paragraphs of the correct text of the speech furnished by the Admiral — one paragraph branding the Sinn Féin element in America as the enemy of both Britain and America and attributing Irish republican resolutions to the influence of "jackass votes" and the other paragraph predicting that the English-speaking peoples will yet be united in a comradeship which will enable them to "run this round globe."

The secretary pronounced the offense of Admiral Sims aggravated by his disregard of the warning involved in his reprimand in 1911 by President William Howard Taft for a speech in London in which he said that if their empire was ever seriously menaced by an "European coalition," the British could "count on every man, every dollar, every drop of blood of your kindred across the sea."

"The department deprecates the fact that it is necessary to rebuke a flag officer in public, but you have made the action unavoidable," the Denby letter of reprimand declared, and continued:

"The department expresses its strong and unqualified disapproval of your conduct in having again delivered a highly improper speech in a foreign country and you are hereby publicly reprimanded."

MUSIC RECITAL

FRIDAY EVENING.

The closing exercises of the Maysville Music School were of unusual interest and considered exceptionally good. The playing of the pupils in the first recital displayed unusual talent and Miss Evelyn Cablish's recital assisted by Mitchell Matthews was a revelation to their friends and those who heard it. The program was one of great beauty and magnificently rendered. Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Mitchell Matthews for his accompaniment at the second piano of the G Minor Concerto by Mendelssohn. All the friends and pupils as well as Miss Moore are certainly to be congratulated. This was the program:

(a) Prelude Op. 28, No. 20; (b) Funeral March; (c) Waltz in C Sharp Minor, Op. 24, (Chopin).

MINGO WAR PROBE TO BE HELD IN JULY

Johnson Resolution Finally Adopted On Friday By Senate Over Protests.

Washington, June 24. — Senate investigation of the disturbances in the Mingo West Virginia coal fields was ordered Friday. The committee on labor is expected to begin the inquiry next month.

A resolution by Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, California, authorizing the investigation, was adopted early in the week but was held up by a motion to reconsider, made by Senator Henry L. Myers, Democrat, Montana. When the measure came up Friday Mr. Myers did not press his motion and the measure was put through without a rollcall.

Mr. Myers told the Senate that the investigation would be a "useless consumption of time and money" adding that "Congress ought to stop investigating everything sometime."

Senator John S. Williams, Democrat, Mississippi, said that what was needed was "an investigating committee to investigate the investigators, and after that we ought to have a commission on commissions."

MUCH INTEREST IS TAKEN IN ALL-DAY CHURCH MEETINGS

Christian Church Home-Coming Celebration Is Expected to Bring Many Out-of-Town People Here For Sunday.

Considerable interest has been shown throughout the entire county in the big home-coming celebration to be held at the Christian church Sunday at which time all members of that congregation and scores of visitors are expected.

The program as announced in Friday's issue of the Public Ledger will be carried out in detail and a most interesting time is assured all those who will attend.

The afternoon session will be especially interesting to the members of other denominations. Besides the address by Hon. John P. McCartney, there will be a Union Memorial service in which there will be memorial addresses by laymen from all the Protestant churches in the city and this service is expected to be very interesting.

The chief speaker of the day, Dr. George L. Nively, of Illinois, will give a special address Sunday evening which should be heard by a large audience. Several of the local churches give way their evening service that all may attend this meeting.

The committee also will arrange a constructive program for the annual convention of the association, to be held in Louisville in November.

Chairman Gibbs announced the death of Captain Pink Varble, one of the best-known rivermen of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys, and a Vice President of the association. Albert Bettinger was named a committee of one to draft resolutions on the death of Captain Varble.

TWO KILLED AS STORM SWEEP OVER CENTRAL KENTUCKY

Four Kentuckians Stricken By Lightning Late Friday In Severe Electrical Storm.

Lexington, Ky., June 25. — Two persons were killed by lightning and four others, one in Lexington, were badly shocked in an electrical storm which yesterday afternoon swept over Central and Eastern Kentucky. The storm brought only temporary relief from heat, however, as forecasts are for continued warm weather for the next 36 hours.

Henry Wigginton, a farmer, was killed instantly and George Conner badly shocked when lightning struck the latter's home near Union Church, Montgomery county, yesterday. The house was badly damaged. Wigginton had gone in the house out of the rain. His home was destroyed by fire several days ago. He was 24 years old and is survived by a widow and two small children.

George Land, 60 years old, was killed when he was struck by lightning at Irvine, and two neighbors who were with him at the time were knocked unconscious. Land was a native of Estill county, and lived at Doe Creek. He is survived by a widow and seven children.

Fred Sowers, who makes his home at the Central Hotel, was knocked unconscious while talking over a telephone during the storm here in the afternoon. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he is recovering from the shock.

OUR POLICY:

And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

LUCKED EYE-BROWS.

Back in 1820 the elder D'Israeli wrote: "In China the girls are continually plucking their eye-brows that they may be thin and long."

He spoke of this custom among the Chinese in an essay on feminine fashions prevailing in benighted countries like China, Turkey and Africa.

He cited it as an example of the lengths to which women in those lands will go in order to conform to their peculiar notions of beauty.

He described the Chinese custom of plucking eye-brows in connection with similar customs elsewhere, such as the practice of women of Greenland who color their faces blue and yellow; and the fashion of painting the face red, among native women of India; and the custom in ancient Persia of breaking the nose in order to give it the aquiline contour.

"Thank goodness," the ladies of D'Israeli's time doubtless exclaimed, "fashion does not condemn us to such atrocities."

And he would have been regarded as a crazy prophet who would have predicted that 100 years later women in America and Europe would be having their eye-brows plucked in order to produce the thin and long effect so popular in China.

FINES WILL NOT STOP SPEEDING.

Tuesday afternoon a Mason county man entered a plea of guilty in City Court to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and was fined twenty-five dollars and costs.

This man had run into and over an old colored woman who was boarding a street car in the East End Saturday evening and although she was not seriously injured, it is little short of miraculous that she was not killed.

In open court the man acknowledged that he was drunk while operating the machine and yet escaped with a small fine of twenty-five dollars and costs.

This will not stop speeding. The paying of small fines will never bring the drunken or the foolish to a realization of their duty to the public in using due diligence in an effort to prevent accidents nor will it awaken them to a due observance of the laws of the Commonwealth in this regard.

Again we venture to suggest the addition of a jail sentence to the fine thus giving the law breaker an opportunity to meditate in solitude upon his offense. The addition of the confinement penalty is a certain guarantee against careless driving and very moderate punishment for driving a machine while drunk.

The War Department of the French Government is the center of a scandal because $400,000,000 was paid by France for American surplus stocks. Probably the French reason that Newt Baker would have given them away and the amount could have been saved to the French treasury.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT'S FIRST NIGHT IN THE WHITE HOUSE.

In writing of my brother in the White House various scenes stand out with special clearness. The first night he spent there comes back with a tender aroma of his love for his sisters and his loyal memory of his father.

The deed of the cowardly assassin had done its work; William McKinley was dead. The young vice-president had made the hazardous trip from the heart of the Adirondack Mountains, had taken the solemn oath in Buffalo, had followed the body of his late chief to his final resting-place, and had returned to Washington. From Washington he telegraphed to my husband and myself—with the love and the thought which he always showed—and told us that as Mrs. Roosevelt was attending to last important matters at Sagamore Hill she could not be with him the day he was to move into the White House, and that he was very anxious that not only my sister, Mrs. Cowles, and her husband but that we also should dine with him the first night that he slept in the old mansion. So we went on to Washington and shared with him that first meal in the house for which he had such romantic attachment because it had sheltered the hero of his boyhood and his manhood, Abraham Lincoln. As we sat around the table he turned and said: "Do you realize this is the birthday of our father, September 22? I have realized it, as I signed various papers all day long, and I feel that it is a very good omen that I should begin my duties in this house on this day. I feel as if my father's hand were on my shoulder, and as if there were a special blessing over the life I am to lead here."

Almost as he finished this sentence the coffee was passed to us, and at that time it was the habit at the White House to pass, with the coffee, a little boutonniere to each gentleman. As the flowers were passed to the President, the one given to him was a yellow saffronia rose for his buttonhole. His face flushed, and he turned again and said: "Is it not strange? This is the rose we all connect with my father." — From "My Brother Theodore Roosevelt—Home Life in the White House," by Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, in the July Scribner.

Present Federal taxation plans call for an average contribution of approximately $40 a year for each of the 107,000,000 persons in the United States.

DRESSMAKER MADE WELL

Followed a Neighbor's Advice and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vernon, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my sides. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine." — Mrs. W. M. STEPHENS, 1103 N. Commerce St., Vernon, Texas.

Dressmakers when overworked are prone to such ailments and should profit by Mrs. Stephens' experience. Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., about your health. Your letter will be opened and answered by a woman who held in strict confidence.

FINANCIAL SUICIDE.

When the hired man goes out to the barn some morning and finds John Jones in the hay mow, swaying and twisting gently at the end of a long strong rope, about the first thing he does after he has cut the body down is to notify the Coroner. The Coroner, having viewed the remains and remarked that John is as dead as Connie Mack's chances to win the American League pennant, calls in a bunch of his cronies who need the money, empanels a jury and holds an inquest. It is not long until the jury shifts its chew of tobacco and announces that John Jones came to his death by his own hand. The neighbors say: "Well, it's a pity John didn't have the nerve to fight his troubles instead of ducking them," and J. Jones is forgotten.

Not all killing is murder but death by one's own hand is not only prohibited by law but is regarded almost universally as the subterfuge of a coward to avoid facing the future. Killing your own chances in life is financial suicide. Men who would scorn to end their lives no matter what their difficulties and their financial careers and do it with their own hands through failure to put aside a surplus both to seize opportunities which are daily occurrences in American life and to meet emergencies and disasters.

When such men are found twisting at the end of their financial rope, the only verdict a jury of their peers can bring in is — "Financial suicide." The putting aside of such a surplus has been made both convenient and easy through the issue of small denomination government securities. The Treasury Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates are specially adopted for the saving and safeguarding of money and money so placed will be safe and will return a sure and adequate profit.

With the exception of Great Britain Australia's exports to the United States now exceed those of any other country.

New York.—The group in New York society which never quite entered the gates leading to the Vanderbilt clique is getting a quiet smile—which sometimes breaks into an audible giggle—over the news that Gladys Deacon is to be the future Duchess of Marlborough, the former Consuelo Vanderbilt now having her final decree of divorce from his grace, the Duke. Due to a scandal in the Deacon family just before the wedding of Consuelo and the Duke, 2 1/2 years ago, Gladys was omitted from the bridal party, and, in spite of the fact that she and the now ex-duchess have been close friends in recent years until a year or so ago, it is just possible Miss Deacon herself is getting some satisfaction out of the turn events have taken.

George G. Gibbs found a dollar on a Hudson River ferry boat the other day which he is anxious to return—strange as the statement may sound. It was in an envelope on which was written "Lucky Dollar," on the bill itself was written in ink: "My last dollar, Helen."

Now that motion pictures are growing more complex and more subtle, they have acquired the art of imparting real thrills—not just the kind of excitement created by a man driving an auto over a cliff, but the kind of thrills you used to get from reading

Poe and telling ghost stories with no light but a flickering wood fire. That's the sort of thrill, raised to an intense degree, that you get out of "The Voice in the Dark." I thought I would get it, just from the title, but I didn't think I would get it so hard. It is the kind of play that is apt—unless one remembers where she is, all the time—to lead to grasping tight the hand of the complete and rather distant stranger sitting in the next seat, and keeping hold until the scene is done and the enormity of one's conduct is realized. There is a love story plot and that part of the story itself is interesting. But although you can see a lot of love story plots, I have never seen a picture which "got over" the shivers up and down my spine as this one did. It is rather a remarkable piece of scenario writing and of production to make the picture as effective as the play was on the speaking stage because of the fact that it was a voice which was the center clue to the mystery. It has been done. Samuel Goldwyn doesn't need "talkies" in making pictures.

There's a humanly picturesque quality about Richard Croker, Sr., which will hold the interest of New York and indeed, the whole country, just as long as he continues to visit us. It may be all very true that the political methods which made him famous have come to be less frankly smiled upon, but "the big chief" himself gets the smiles of those who fought him the most bitterly when he was in politics. He is back in New York now fighting a suit brought by his sons, and his views on the Dempsey-Carpenter fight and on anything else which he can talk about have a weight not often given to the words of a deposed political leader.

Painting in flannel is the latest achievement in the world of art. George Farrington Lambert, Jr., has invented or devised the method and the effect as carried out by him is remarkable. He is planning to hold an exhibition of his work here in the fall. LUCY JEANNE PRICE.

and most everyone had bundles. One girl, in thin silk hose and highheeled suede slippers, regardless of the weather swung a foot from a crossed knee in the way of everyone passing. Everyone stumbled over it and the girl serenely sat as she was. Finally, a middle-aged woman with a fairly firm chin reached across the aisle with an umbrella boasting a substantial crook in the handle. She deliberately hooked the girl's ankle, uncrossed the knee and put the foot down where it belonged. Nothing but the suppression of a fnger prevented the crowd from rising and giving three loud cheers.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SAID:

"I will study and prepare myself, and then, some day, my chance will come!"

Mothers and Fathers, your boys have opportunities that were denied Lincoln, but if the Government is controlled by special privilege and monopoly, what about your boy's chances?

How can the standard of America's high courts be maintained as laid down by our forefathers if the people do not promote the worthy judges of the lower courts?

Each court should be a training for the one above and the judges of the higher courts, men who have risen from the ranks and know the people.

Let the worthy go up; there is room at the top.

Eighteen consecutive years is a special privilege, a monopoly of the office and condemned by the Men who Made the Nation.

KENTUCKY WOMEN MAY GET ON THE JURIES.

Frankfort, Ky., June 24.—The Court of Appeals, in its final sitting of the spring term, today rendered three of the most important decisions of the sitting, besides handing down a number of other decrees. The court held that women can serve on juries in Kentucky, that the 1920 compulsory education law is valid, and that the law making the second conviction for bootlegging a felony is valid.

Another important decision today was one in which the court held that the law passed in 1920 compelling parents to send their children to school is valid.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
JUNE 29, 1921.
Topic: "Witnessing for Jesus"
Luke 24:36-48.
REV. J. J. DICKEY.

Different topics have been chosen for this lesson by different writers.

The lesson text is an interview between Jesus and the apostles in which Jesus gives them specific direction in regard to the work He had assigned them. They were to tarry at Jerusalem until the Holy Spirit should descend upon them, then they were to preach the gospel throughout the world. These interviews were after His resurrection. The disciples were together in Jerusalem and the two disciples from Emmaus came to them and were reporting their interview with Jesus when suddenly He appeared in the room, the door being shut. Joy and amazement mingled at this. Jesus assured them He was no spirit, though He had entered the room when the door was closed. He called for food and lunch. It seems that He left Emmaus before taking supper although He gave thanks for the meal. The forty days that Jesus spent with His disciples must have been marvellously interesting. What thrills it gave His disciples! At the meeting recorded in our text we are told "Then opened He their understanding that they might understand the scriptures." Still at the ascension they seemed to know but little of the nature of His mission for one said unto Him, "Will not Thou at this time restore the kingdom of Israel?" and after they had preached eight years they still did not understand that this gospel was for the Gentiles. It requires time for the truth to permeate the human mind. How slowly we learn the deep things of God. We are not unlike the disciples we learn by doing; and it was necessary or natural for them to receive the truth in installments as they worked it out in their lives. The great truths of God's world is little understood by the masses of church members. We must live very close to God to understand his word. Peter was in communion with God when he received his call to preach to the Gentiles.

While the disciples were to be witnesses to the ends of the earth of what they had seen and heard of Christ, they were charged to preach "repentance and remission of sins." This is to be the theme of the preacher. The need of a lost world is salvation which comes only through repentance and remission of sins. When a saved man gives his testimony it begins with an account of his repentance, followed by the remission of his sins. Where these are not experienced there is no salvation. The great need of the world today is repentance. Without it all men perish. This is the statement of Jesus. No repentance, no remission of sins. No remission, no salvation. No salvation, no heaven. As preachers and as Christians we should emphasize this phase of the gospel. It is one of the great fundamentals. "Except ye repent we shall all likewise perish." So spoke the Master.

Paul said: "Testifying both to Jesus and to greater repentance towards God and faith toward the Lord Jesus Christ." Let us tell of the great salvation God has given to us and others will desire the same blessing.

Mrs. H. G. Speath and Mrs. H. L. Walsh are the guests of Mrs. Thomas Lashbrook, of the county.

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Maysville Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are weak, Nature tells you about it. The urine is nature's index. Infrequent or too frequent passage. Other disorders suggest kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills are for disordered kidneys. Ask your neighbor. Maysville people testify to their worth.

Charles Kennan, retired farmer, 31 Wood street, Maysville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills several different times within the last few years and never had them fail to do me good. My kidneys were in a mighty bad shape the first time I used them. The secretions I passed were bloody and burned terribly. My back kept me in misery during the time the attack lasted and I was feeling generally run down. I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a couple boxes of them. This medicine reached my case at once and cured me up in good shape. I have always relied upon Doan's ever since. I use a few now and then to regulate my kidneys and they never fail me."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills — the same that Mr. Kennan had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
